Panama D.C.

Panama x Deep Chunk

Regarded as somewhat similar to the Deep Chunk from Tom Hill , Panama D.C. astounds with her earthy blend of fruit flavours, most noticeable of which being her tangy lemon zest.

With a flowering time of just 8-9 weeks, Panama D.C. is considered a quick bloomer. In effect, she induces a mostly Indica sort of stone, consisting of a relaxing body buzz with subtle Sativa undertones. Aided by a strong Afghan influence, Panama D.C. produces rock hard and heavily resinous buds that emit a delicious scent sure to turn heads. Perfect for sharing with friends or just unwinding after a long hard day, Panama D.C. sets the tone nicely.

Although her yields aren't the highest around they are however brimming with power, pungency and pleasant flavors. Panama D.C. will undoubtedly appeal to cash crop cultivators looking for a new plucky plant to add their collections. Her beautiful appearance that occasionally flashes hints of pink stigmas are like the cherry on top of a well rounded cannabis cake.
