Royal Gorilla Auto

Royal Gorilla Automatic: The Next Level Of Autoflowering Evolution

Meet the new heir to the autoflowering cannabis throne, Royal Gorilla Automatic. The breeders at Royal Queen Seeds have blended the most potent and decadent photoperiod strains in the catalogue - Royal Gorilla and Royal Cookies - with ruderalis genetics to create the spectacular Royal Gorilla Automatic.

This next-gen autoflowering hybrid outperforms the competition in virtually every category of importance. Royal Gorilla Automatic is the marijuana that is changing the cynic's perception of what an auto is capable of.

Vital Statistics

Indoors, the Royal Gorilla Automatic will grow to heights between 60-120cm. This larger size allows for greater bud production. Long-running colas and strong side branches will develop in optimal conditions. Yields of up to 400g/m² are possible. Moreover, Royal Gorilla Automatic is an easy cropping strain that is low-maintenance and ideally suited to the SOG method. In just 8-10 weeks post-germination, frosty, Diesel, and Kush-scented chunky buds will be ready for harvest.

Outdoors in warmer climates, Royal Gorilla Automatic can grow as tall as 140cm and become an enormously productive bush with yields of 120-170g/plant possible. As she can flower independently of photoperiod, Royal Gorilla Automatic offers the potential for multiple harvests from spring to autumn. Large containers, good sunlight, well-draining soil, and minimal nutrients are all she needs to thrive outside.

Powerful Effects

Royal Gorilla Automatic is immensely psychoactive, boasting 20% THC levels and minimal CBD. As a genetic cocktail of indica, sativa, and ruderalis genetics, she has a combined head-body effect. Make no mistake, she packs a King Kong knockout punch. An initial euphoric and cerebral buzz soon gives way to a happy couch-lock. This extra-gooey marijuana with the expansive Diesel flavour is more than a rival to photoperiod strains;

Royal Gorilla Automatic is setting a new standard of rapid-flowering excellence.
