Description

Supercheese Express

1 / 2

A fast luxury that is sure to have a permanent hole in your garden. The vigor it shows from the beginning translates into a resinous plant with large flowers. Very robust, with a small to moderate internodal distance, large Indica leaves, and stems of excellent caliber, which will support the weight of the flowers well. The harvest will arrive very quickly, ideal for impatient lovers of the Cheese flavor. The final size will be moderate and appropriate. It is recommended to pay close attention to the proliferation of fungi, especially in the flowering phase.

Supercheese by Positronics is suitable for indoor, outdoor and greenhouse cultivation. As previously mentioned, caution is advised when choosing a place to grow this due to the smell. It has an exceptionally quick flowering time, you are looking at 66-69 days for optimal yields. You can expect yields of roughly 350-400 g/m2 for your time and effort when grown indoors. It has a THC content of 19%.
