Description

Tikal

Guatemala sativa x Kush/Haze) x Guatemala

Tikal is a sativa hybrid with Central American genetics, originating from the jungles of Guatemala.

Its happy and stimulant effect is reminiscent of the best old mexican sativas. It is a good yielding and vigorous sativa that is easy to cultivate. When grown outdoors it finishes with well developed branches, full of flowers with a complex aroma of strawberries, peach and incense.

Its effect is a warm sativa experience of body and mind, without agitation or anxiety.

It shows excellent adaptability to indoor growing.

Outdoors, it is also a very adaptable plant that has been successfully grown for years in temperate latitudes, and even in cold climates such as in southern France.

Genetic analyses performed at Phylos laboratories show that Tikal has a unique and uncommon genotype, of high genetic variability. Excellent sativa to develop vigorous hybrids, with clean uplifting effects and complex fruity and incensey aromas of american sativa.

We recommend moderate levels of nutrients for the whole cycle, slightly higher in flowering.

Available in regular and feminized format
